BIBF in Collaboration with IntegrityFX Presents:

Online Forex Trading

A 3-Day Course

Purpose

The purpose of this course is to introduce participants to basic, intermediate, and high level Forex trading methods. New traders will appreciate the comprehensive instruction, while veteran traders will enjoy learning about the nuance in the currency markets so that they can fine tune their trading for greater profits.

Who should attend this seminar?

This course is intended for anyone that is interested in learning more about Forex.

Pre-requisites

No prior knowledge or experience is required to attend this seminar.

Contents

- Introduction to Forex - In this seminar segment, student traders are provided with a strong trader knowledge base. They will learn about: market history, basic Forex principles, how a Forex trade works, leverage, margin, basic terminology, trading psychology, and are introduced to the MetaTrader4 trading platform.
- Technical Analysis - This seminar segment on Technical Analysis examines chart types and chart patterns as a method for understating price history in order to anticipate future price action. Other course topics include: support and resistance, common indicators, candlesticks, and trend lines. There is extensive use of the MetaTrader 4 trading platform.
- Fundamental Analysis - In this seminar segment, students learn how to properly read and understand the value of economic and geopolitical news by properly performing intermarket analysis. They will also learn to recognize how market sentiment is affected by multiple fundamental factors and trade the nuance of the sentiment rather than the fundamental factors.

- Risk Management - This seminar segment investigates various aspects of risk management. The topics include: risk perspective, risk/reward, developing risk management rules, and the math behind the method.
- Strategy Development - This seminar segment delves into the steps involved in developing trading strategies for different types of market conditions. The topics include: types of strategy testing, methods of strategy testing, biases, and analyzing results.
- Creating a Professional Trading Model - Explore the possibilities of expanding the strategies you use in trading. This seminar segment will cover short, medium, and long-term trading strategies and how to apply them to your portfolio. Take advantage of years of trading experience from the IFX ETC instructors and learn how to build your ultimate Forex trading model.
